Honor/Integrity

All department members will be held to high standards and expected to behave in a manner that represents a strict adherence to moral and ethical values.

Respect

All department members will be expected to display self-respect. Without fail, they will treat others as they wish to be treated. They will hold great regard for all they serve and protect their dignity and privacy.

Responsibility

Members have a personal obligation to honor their commitment to their respective organizations and ACDPS. It is one's own duty to make decisions using good judgment and common sense, keeping safety as a first and foremost priority.

Accountability

Members will be held accountable for their actions. We all have a responsibility to our mission to help others. We must respect our leaders and the rules that govern our system.

Professionalism

Members will be expected to operate within the boundaries of professional standards. This includes, but not limited to, appropriate public behavior, clean cut personal appearance and promptness.

Quality

Members of ACDPS will always seek to provide the highest quality possible in all their endeavors and continuously strive to improve the quality of the entire system.
